nour mon fighting oven better than before; that the men were in good spirits, and that reinforcements had arrived from Washington.

Our total loss during the whole six days of terrific fighting till Monday night, about 12,000-7,500 of whom were lost in the battle of Friday, on the right wing. A special despatch to the Boston Journal estimates the total loss at 15,000.

FORTRESS MONROE, July 2d.—The stearmer Daniel Webster, from City Point, with a number of wounded has arrived. A gentleman having charge of them informs me that yesterday was the sixth day of the battle. The most terrific fighting extended along the whole line. Our loss will reach from 15,000.

McClellan's head quarters are at Harding's Landing. To-day his line extends five willes above, towards Richmond. This move of the right wing was planned ten days ago, and would have been carried out but for certain reasons which it is not proper to state.

Notwithstanding the enemy's force was greally superior to ours in overy action, they have been repulsed oftener than we have, and their loss exceeds curs.

Our informant says McClellan and his staff assert that the present position of the army is far more advantageous as a base of operations against Richmond than hitherto occupied. The gunboats can now materially aid in carrying on the war. The enemy's force, as stated by prisoners, was 150,000 men, while our effective force did not exceed 95,000.

New York, July 3.—The Herald has detailed reports of the hattle of Thursday Kri.

New York, July 3.—The Herald has detailed reports of the battle of Thursday, Friday and Saturday, from which it appears that the right wing of our army, consisting of 20,000 men, were attacked on Friday, by a rebel O00 men, were attacked on Friday, by a rebel lorce of not less than 50,000 men, and after a severe fight our troops crossed the Chicahominy in good order. On Saturday night and Sanday our whole force under Heintzleman, Keys and Sumner fell back along the line of the railroad and the Williamsburg road and marched to James river. The rebels crossed the Chicahominy in great force on Sunday, reaching the railroad, but made no pursuit, remaining half an hour in possession of the ground occupied by our troops both sides of the Chickahominy, including the bridges and earthworks we had erected against their an approach. All our stores were withdrawn, with proach. All our stores were withdrawn, with much loss, of course. There was tremendous fighting during the movements and heavy loss of the British Institution, London, and of Charles on both sides.

The Times' correspondent states that McClellan established his headquarters Monday on Malvon Hill, one mile back of Turkey Island bend. At 2 o'clock Monday, P. M., fring was heard in the direction of White Oak Swamp, where Ayres was holding the rebels in check, who were attempting to cross an Immense force. The rebel artillery and cavalry, fresh from Richmond, then appeared on our left, when Porter's and Key's commands went to resist the enemy. A most terrific fight ensued—it became evident that the overwhelming force of the rebels was gaining, when the gunboats opened with the 54-pounders upon the enemy; the fight continued till dark. About 10 o'clock in the evening the Prince De Joinville, Duke De Chartres and Count De Paris left headquarters, embarked on gunboat Jacob Bell with official dispatches from McClellau to Government. When she left, all was quiet along the river.

patches from McClellan to Government. When she left, all was quiet along the river.

New York, July 3.—The World's correspondent from the battle field has arrived. He says McClellan's advance on Tuesday was within 15 miles of Richmond. The enemy were terribly repulsed in Monday's battle, which was desperate in the extreme, and were repulsed at four different points, when they pressed Heintzleman hard, but Sumner went to his relief and the enemy were finally repulsed with great slaughter. Heintzleman captured 8 guns and a whole brigade, including their solonel, Pendleton of Louisiana, ex-Congressman Lamar, and McGowan of South Carolina. All our siege guns have been safely removed to the river except one. Our transportation is all suffered severely. Gens. McCall and Reynolds are probably taken prisoners. The rebel general Stonewall Jackson is killed. In the action of Monday the gunboats Galena and Aroostook shelled the river road upon which the enemy attempted to advance. They retreated precipitately as soon as the shelling commenced.

Our troops are greatly exhausted but still in excellent spirits.

WASHINGTON, July 4.—The President has decided to call into service an additional force of 300, 000 men, and recommends that the troops, chiefly infantry, be immediately enrolled, so as to bring the iniquitous civil war to a speedy and successful termination.

The Great Railroad.

The Government gives toward the construction of the Pacific Railroad, under the terms of the bill that has just passed Congress, 40,000,000, and an area of public lands two thousand miles long by six wide. These lands now—the vast proportion thereof—are now almost worthless; but by the very construction of this road they are of course rendered immensely valuable. The same advantages in respect of land donations are secured to the branch roads that may be built.

The different sections of the road are to be commenced simultaneously, or as nearly so as is possible; and the quickness of completion is commanded peremptorily by the terms of the bill.

The simple letter of the bill provides thor

The Federals Claim the Victory!

The steamer Eliza Anderson arrived from Olympia at 4 o'clock this morning, with two days later nows from the seat of war:

Washington, 3d.—A despatch from McClellan to the War Department, from Breckley Bar, July 31, says he has succeeded in getting to that place, on the banks of James river, and has lost but one gun, which was abandoned—that the rear wagon train was within one mile of camp, only one wagon having been abandoned. We had a severe fight on Tuesday, we beat the enemy badly, our men fighting oven better than before that the men were in good spirits, and that reinforcements had arrived from Washington.

Australia that attempted, like our cotempor-ary, to delude immigrants into writing manifestoes in the place of counselling and as-Every resident in this and the neighboring colony feels a warm interest in the prosperity of every immigrant who comes to the country. In the place of a demonstration against the country, there ought to be one in its favor. Our small population has worked wonders within four years. Let the same patience, perseverance, and energy be shown by new-comers that has been shown by their predecessors. Let residents and immigrants unite to build up, not pull down.

That is the kind of demonstration required.

We favor demonstration that does good; not evil; what will enrich men; not make them poorer. It has already been suggested -the movement has already begun to take shape and form-to establish an Emigration

Board from among our respectable citizens, whose object it shall be to counsel, assist, and promote in every way possible the interests of the immigrants who arrive in the country. Such a movement-such a demonstration of public spirit-will do good.

Good counsel to an immigrant will often prove of more value on his arrival than money. It would be the teaching and assistance of experience and friendship-of men who haves summered and wintered and prospered in the country; who know what the hardships and difficulties of a new country are, and what is the best way to overcome them. Such a demonstration we hope will soon occur; and we trust that our residents, old and new, will unite in the pro-

War News.

The anxiety of our readers to hear the details of the fight before Richmond may be partially satisfied by reference to our columns. There has been some great battles fought, and a greater destruction of life within six days than at any other period during the war. If we can rely on our telegrams nearly 40,000 men have been killed and wounded-20,000 on each side. We may well entertain doubts whether any such number have been killed or disabled. But that there was a great sacrifice of life no one can doubt. As we read the news received by the last three arrivals, Gen. McClellan with the Federal army was at Fair Oaks and between the Chickahominy and York River on the northwest, and north of Richmond. He had intended to move across the peninsula to James River, on the banks of which Richmond is built. Before that plan was executed he was attacked by the Confederates, and a six day's battle ensued.

Before the battle was commenced on the first day, the Federals were within five miles of the Confederate capital; and at the conclusion they were on James River some ten or fifteen miles below that city. Our accounts are too imperfect to say whether the Federals were severely defeated, or what substantial success the Confederates gained.

Yet from the dim light thrown on the matter, we conclude that the Southern commanders have gained but little. They have evidently been the chief means of driving McClellan from his position just as he was ready to move. But it does not appear that the Federal army has been so severely crippled as to render it unfit for offensive operations.

If the Confederates had succeeded in their design of completely breaking up the army of their antagonists, their generals might be crowned with laurels. But whilst their design was good, they did not execute it well.

To have executed their design fully the Federals should have been completely routed. Instead of that, we find McClellan strongly posted at Turkey Bend, on James River

He has thus gained a position in which the river and gunboats protect his rear. Communication with his transports and mortar fleet is open, and nothing to prevent him from being reinforced. His position-his base of operations is better than before

This is admittedly so by the Richmond papers, as they have said that the only way in which the Federals could capture the city was by way of James river and the Chickahominy.' Assuming that the Federals are able to hold their position, all that they require is force enough to follow up the river and regularly besiege the Confederates.

Fort Darling, about five miles below

Richmond, has to be carried by assault like the Malakoff or Redan; whatever obstructions exists to the navigation of the river have to be cleared; and it is only a question of time, men and generalship to reduce the place. Looking at the results-and it is the results not the hattle for which armies contend-the Feder als if partially defeated occupy a better position than before; one with ordinary generalimpregnable. Throughout the South the ship which the Confederates are likely to find ardor of the people may be inflamed, but the awed stillness of the North promises a more terrible struggle than ever. Already a new call for 300,000 more soldiers has factious tendency of our cotemporary is been made. Combined with the army in

. ess, in its Mon-

great pains to impress ash and Canadians who have nere this spring, that they have been eceived, and as a matter of course a manifesto must be framed to "place the facts of the case before the public of Great Britain through the press." The object of the manifesto, it says, is to "prove unmistakably the ulterior objects which these infamous exaggerators had in view," and to teach the London Times how it has been made "the dupe of a few designing men with their twenty-five thousand acres of land to dispose of to the newly arrived at a thousand per cent. on the ginal cost." It also tells us that those newly arrived immigrants have been induced " to give up comfortable livli-hoods in England to be thrown helpless on the cost of Vancouver Island," No reflecting person can couple this last assertion with the motives attributed to "the infamous exaggerators," without perceiving that one assertion of the Press refutes the other. If the logic of our cotemporary be true-if a few designing men wished to sell them 25,000 acres of land at 1000 per cent. profit, how is it possible to make such an expectation tally with inducing men to come here "to be thrown helpless on the cost of Van-couver Island?" There never could be a greater absurdity set forth. The very class of men who are forced to pay the largest amount of taxes, the men who in case of necessity will have to pay for the support of people "thrown helplessly on the cost of Vancouver Island," instead of being designing men, would be the veriest fools imaginable. But no one will admit for a momen that the landholders, or merchants, trades men, or ship-owners of this colony or British Columbia, were such fools as to pursue a

On the contrary, what every one knows-what everybody conversant with the country knows to be true-must be admitted, that is, that as a general thing there has been no design on the part of any one to send abroad statements about this country with the object of deceiving any body. -When the fabulous wealth of Cariboo was demonstrated last fall, beyond the possibility of a doubt, every one-not merely landholders, but merchants, traders, professional men, mechanics and all-labored assiduously to acquaint their friends abroad with what they believed .to be the real and actual state and prospects of the country. They were willing to welcome immigrants to share with them the wealth of the country; and if they did not paint every difficulty in the gloomy colors of our croaking cotemporary, it is because they regarded the hardships of a pioneer life as a passing difficulty-something that they had met over and over again-something with which they were familiar, but which was inseparable from new countries everywhere that it was deemed a matter of general knowledge in England as well as Canada-they did not color strongly the difficulties that beset the pioneer in our country because they believed that the English and Canadians were "bone of their bone and flesh of their flesh," and could encounter the hardships of a new country in the same unconquerable spirit with which Englishmen hay founded fifty colonies in every part of the globe. Intentional deception, we maintain, has had no part in the accounts sent to Canada or England respecting our mines. If any trifling exaggeration or omission has been made, it has been due to the eagerness with which our residents, one and all, have spread abroad the intelligence of golden discoveries in the Bald Hills. Any one, like our cotemporary, who states that deception has been a prime object in the diffusion of mining intelligence from the Colony, utters what is a slander-what is untrue; and in no way can he have the true interests of the

In the British possessions of the Pacific we possess a country that in five or ten years time will be second to none in North America.

It has all the elements of future greatness, and only awaits the influx of capital and labor to make it rich, happy, and prosperous. The mass of those who have encountered here the hardships of pioneer life during the last four years, have done as well or better than they could have done elsewhere. They see the country growing up rapidly around them everywhere. Under such circumstances and with such prospects, we regard the attempts of our cotemporary to stir up dissatisfaction among immigrants as factious, and injurious alike to the country and to themselves. We have not the smallest objection either to Canadians or English writing home the fullest details about the country, so long as they are truthful. But we warn them against being made the tools of any one, and yet reach no practical object. Every immigrant who arrives here with or without capital, has but one object-to better his position. We ask can that be attained by holding meetings to run down the country? That is what the

ARCHITECTS,

Additional from Stickeen. The sloops John Dickson and Eagle arrived yesterday morning from the mouth of Stickeen River, having left that point at the same time as the North Star. The Dickson brings confirmatory reports of the richness in a cargo of coal for Portland. of the gold mines, and $240 in amalgam William Johnson, the owner of the richest claim yet struck on the river, told our informant that he would not exchange his claim for the best in Cariboo. The Flying Dutchman was announced to leave for her second trip for up-river on the 30th. The Russians, who arrived from Sitka as the North Star was leaving, gave the Indians two barrels of whiskey. They have established a custom-house at the mouth of the river, and say that they propose examining the papers of all vessels that in future may put in there. One hundred and fifty men were repairing and strengthening canoes at Stickeen Ranch, which is five miles below the mouth, when the Dickson sailed. As soon as the water falls it is their intention to proceed to the diggings. Forty-five miles below Stickeen the Dickson saw two Italians belonging to the trading schooner Langley who reported that their vessel had been run upon the rocks and stove. The sloop Reporter, with a German and a crazy Chinaman aboard, was spoken on the way down. The Chinaman was one of the three Celestials who were refused permission to ascend the river by the Indians. The schooner Rebecca had arrived at the mouth of the river. The sloop Native was 15 miles, and the schooner Elizabeth, 90 miles south of Stickeen. The schooner Nonpareil was spoken 120 miles below Fort Simpson; the Victoria Packet in Johnson's Straits; and sloop Emily Jones near Fort Rupert. All these District, a position from which he was a short vessels were bound for Stickeen River with time ago suspended by Governor Douglas, on freight and passengers. MURDER AND SUMMARY EXECUTION .-On Monday, 30th ult., says the Steilacoem (W. T.) Herald, a native of the Flowery being precipitated head foremost from the already engaged. top of the bank in the rear of the Masonic Hall. His head struck upon a log in falling inflicting injuries from which he died in about an hour. Coroner Collins held an inquest upon the Chinaman's body, which resulted in charging an Indian named Hyusum with the crime of his murder. It seems that Hyusum, who was well-known as a vicious and worthless Indian, knew that the Chinaman possessed a considerable sum of money, which he carried in a belt about his person, and had determined to rob him. An opportunity for this purpose presented itself on the Chinaman approaching the edge of the bank, when the Indian crept up stealthily behind him and pushed him over. The Indian immediately descended to the beach to finish his bloody work, and was in the act of persons of one or two other Indians. The murderer fled; but was subsequently caught near town, tried by citizens, found guilty of narder and hanged. A Chinaman acted as

ARRIVAL OF THE "Gov. Douglas."-The steamer Gov. Douglas, Capt. Tom Wright in command, arrived from Port Douglas via New Westminster last evening, with 125 passengers-15 of whom were "dend-heads." The amount of treasure on board was $35,-000-the largest sum received by one arrival minster, and will come down this week. It yet. is reported that a party of miners and others on their way down from Williams Creek with $100,000, belonging principally to miners on that stream. Dr. Haggin's claim on Lightning Creek is said to be paying remarkably well; and Mr. Buckley's, on Antler, is also highly spoken of.

Too Many Women .- The Steilacoom Herald complains that there are now more women than men on the Sound-all the male bipeds having gone to the mines. At a late ball in Olympia the excess of females was thirty, and at a ball in Steilacoom it was almost twenty. A few years ago, says the Herald, the boot was on the other leg; it being extremely difficult then to get up a dance for the want of ladies. The Sound is a great place for grass-widows

COMING BACK .- We learn that Victor Smith, the alleged defaulting U. S. Collector of Customs at Port Townsend, is on his way back from Washington. It is said that his Government has expressed the utmost confidence in his management of affairs on this coast, and that no defalcation exists in his accounts. We hope the report may prove

Letter from Stickeen River. MOUTH STICKEEN RIVER. June 29th, 1862.

* I arrived MESSRS. here three days ago, in twenty-three days from Victoria, and found a good many men encamped, fixing up boats and canoes to go up river. Some men returned from the up crushing the skull of the prostrate man with river to purchase provisions, and report the a large stone, when he was suddenly made country good. One man (a Mr. William aware of the presence of witnesses in the Carpenter) took out $970 in one week, and reports men making from $4 to 9 ounces per day; but there are not many men at work day; but there are not many men at work yet, the water being too high. All are in good spirits. The steamer Flying Dutchman has just returned from a trip up the

A lady who had an album garnished with the autographs of most of the men of the day, but wanted that of Great Captain," mentioned her distress the "Great Captain," mentioned her distress to the late Mr. H—, and a few days after, he, to her great surprise and pleasure, brought a note. This was a very odd document for a lady's album, but its authenticity is andoubted. The way in which this singular note was elicited was this: Mr. II—— filled up one of the Bankruptey Court forms, and signed it, informing the duke that in winding up the affairs of Messrs. Simpkin he (the assignee) found on their books the sum of 6s. 6d due by his Grace for a pair of braces. Mr. II—— struss was for a pair of braces. curious to see. All warnings of the brown and curious to see. All warnings of the brown and simple fishermen, in the cars of the smartly dressed gentlemen who had seen the world, were quite idle. It was a bright summer morning, and the jolly-boat, with a showy flag went off to the berg. By twelve 6'clock the colors were flying from the ice-turrets, and the wild midely inven were shoulding from its walls. wild midshipmen were shouting from its walls For two hours or so they hacked and clambered upon the crystal palace, frolicked and feasted, drank wine to the king and ladies, and laughed at the thought of peril where all was fixed and solid. As if in amazement at such rashness, the grim Alp of the sea made neither rashness, the grim Alp of the sea made neither sound nor motion. A profound stillness watched on his shining pinnacles, and harkened in the blue shadows of his caves. When, like thoughtless children, they had played themselves weary, the old alabaster of Greenland mercifully suffered them to gather up their toys, and go down to their cockle boat, and flee away. As if the time and distance were measured, he waited until they could see it and live, when, as if his heart had been volcanic fire, he burst with awful thunders, and filled the surrounding waters with his ruius. A more astonished little party seldom comes home to tell the story of their panic. It was their

The Smokers' Cancer.

The remarkable research made by M. Bouisson upon the danger of smoking has attracted the notice of the French Academy and has been rewarded with high praise. The horrors been rewarded with high praise. hitherto unknown or unacknowledged, with which smokers are threatened, nay, more, con-victed by M. Bouisson, are sufficient, upon bare anticipation, to ruin the revenue and the pipemakers also.

Cancer in the mouth, M. Bouisson declares to have grown so frequent from the use of to-bacco, that it now forms one of the most dreaded diseases in the hospitals, and at Montpelier where M. Bouisson resides, the operation of its attraction forms the principal practice of the urgeons there. In a short period of time from 1845, M. Bouisson himself performed sixty

The writers on cancers previous to but day, mention the rare occurrence of the disease in the lips, and it has hitherto become evident that it must have increased of late the graph of the proportion to the smoking of thaceone. rears in proportion to the smoking of tobacco. M. Bouisson proves this fact by the relative increase in the French duties on tobacco, increase in the French duties on tobacco, which in 1812 brought an annual amount of which in 1812 brought an annual ames, twenty-five millions—almost that obtained by the duties on wines and spirits, and far beyond that rendered by those on sugar. M. figure, extravagant as it may appear, fades into insignificance before that attained by the British tax, which, according to Seymour, amounts to a fabulous sum in a country where boys smoke from five o'clock in the afternoon till three o'clock in the mornin a day."

The use of tobacco rarely produces lip eancer in youth. Almost all Bouison's pa-tients had passed the age of forty. In indivi-duals of the humbler classes, who smoke short pipes and tobacco of inferior quality, the diseases is more frequent than with the becomes evident, therefore, that it is owing more to the constant application of heat to the lips, than to the inhaling of the nicotine. that the disease is generated. With the Orientals, who are cateful to maintain the coolness of the mouth-piece by the transmission of the smoke through parforated was mission of the smoke through perforated wa-the disease is unknown.

1 Bouisson, whose carnestness in the cause does him the utmost credit, advises a general crusade to be preached by the doctors of every country against the immoderate use of tobac-co, as being the only means of exterminating because, although the most powerful sovereigns have been powerless in prevent-ing it—although Sultan Amurath threatened in vain to cut off the noses of those who moked, and Peter the Great vowed direct vengeance against all smokers, and even the thun-lers of the Vatican have been hurled agains them in vain, there is one thing that man-kind holds in more horror than a noseless face, or even an excommunicated soul-and that is an untimely death. Let young men once impressed with this truth, and the "Art of Smoking," which one of our best authors has lately extolled as the finest of the fine arts, will soon be set aside and forgotten.

Influenza and Consumption.

It is indeed a melancholy truth that thousands fall victims to consumption every year from no other cause than neglected colds; yet we find hundreds, andy thousands, who treat such complaints with the greatest indifference and let them run on for weeks, and even months, without thinking of the dapper. At first you have what you consider a slight cough or cold; you allow business, pleasure or carlessness to prevent you from giving it any attention; it then settles upon your breast, you become hoarse, have pains in the sides or chest, expectorate large quantities of matter, perhaps mixed with blood; a difficulty of breathing ensues, and then you find your own toolish neglect has brought on this complaint. If, then, you value your life or health, be warned in time and don't trifle with your cold, but immediately procure a bottle or two of that famous remedy, Dr. WISTAIN'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY, which is well known to be the most speedy cure ever known, as thousands will testify whose lives have been saved by it.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

Fraudulent Imitation of Hostetter's STOMACH BITTERS.

We warn the Public against a gang of scoundrels who are engaged in counterfeiting HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BIT HOSTETTEU'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BIT TERS. These villains, who subsist by pirating, have exhibited a cunning equal to their rascalitr by selecting this most popular STOMACH BITTERS. Dealers from whom better things might have been expected have in some instances connived at the imposition for the purpose of sharing in the plunder. On the principle that the receiver is as culpable as the thief, and that the passer of spurious money is as criminal as the forger, the makers and venders of COUNTERFEIT HOSTETTERS BITTERS stand on the same MORAL level. The great reputation acquired by the BITTERS as a cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and all debilitating diseases of the Stomach and Bowels, has tempted a host of charks, who hope to profit by their celebrity.

ANNEYS SANATIVE PILLS

Are recommended with the greatest confidence, experience having demonstrated them to be far superior to any other in use, being more mild, prompt, say and a particular care is required, and patients may eat and drink as usual. Age will not impair them, as they are so combined as to always readily dissolve in the stomach. In small does they are alterative and gently laxative, but in large does are settively cathartic, cleansing the whole alimentary canal from all putrid, irritating and fecal matters.

For DYSPEISIA, these Pills are really an invaluable article, gradually changing the vifiated secretions of the Stomach and Liver, and producing healthy action in those important organs. In cases of long standing, a cure will be more speedily effected by using, in conjunction with the Pills, ether Jayne's Alterative or Tonic Vermitinge, according to direction of the recommendative of the conjunction with the Pills, ether Jayne's Alterative or Tonic Vermitinge, according to direction of the stomach and Liver, and of the conjunction with the Pills, ether Jayne's Alterative or Tonic Vermitinge, according to directions of the conjunction with the Pills, ether Jayne's Alterative or Tonic Vermitinge, according to directions.

A Cure for Piles and Fistulas. A CUTE for FIRES and FISICIANS.

Inflammation of sensitive parts, piles, fistulas, and such like painful diseases may be presently relieved, and ultimately cured, by the proper and diligent use of this cooling and healing (hintent, whose ection should, in such cases, be assisted by juncticus doses of Filis: ere many days have elapsed the anxious patient will experience a wonderful degree of case from this treatment. They are equally suitable to both sexes, and all ages.

Coughs, Colds, and Asthma. Congris, Colds, and Asilma.
These complaints of the chest come on with slarming frequency. The Olinment should essiduously be rubbed at least twice a day on the chest and between the shoulders, when the violence of all symptoms will gradually give way, the breathing become longer, and the oppression less. No medicines are more ethocient in chest complaints, none can be used with equal safety and certainty. Both Fills and Olinment are accompanied by very clear and simple directions for using them.

A Man who refused to have his Leg off.

"From the Kulrush Advertiser, June 2nd, 1860."

Dropsy, Swollon Legs or Ankles.

The various kinds of dopsies, whether windy or watery, arise from some obstruction to the free circulation though the blood vessels or lymphatics, or depend on the inflamed state of some secreting surface. Holloway's remedies, of which the efficacy cannot be exaggerated, act directly upon the blood, the absorbents and secretions, with a power that no dropsy however inveterate, can long resist. They regulate the proper flow of blood to every organ, and purify it likewise,—they filter out everything that is morbid or injurious,—they throughly regenerate every function, yet potent as they are for good, they are power-less for evil.
